Traffic Division

The office of the Traffic Division is located on the first floor of the Police Headquarters Building, 1200 Clark avenue.

One of the greatest problems confronting the large cities of the country today is the handling of the ever increasing traffic congestion. Traffic has increased at such a tremendous rate that it is trying the minds of the best engineers of the country to cope with this situation. To the Police Department, whose duty it is to safeguard life and property, has fallen the task of regulating and expediting the movement of traffic to the greatest degree of safety to the public.

The Traffic Violation Bureau which was opened on July 1, 1928, is in charge of Sergeant Eskridge Votaw. The bureau was established for the purpose of violators of minor traffic laws to appear at this bureau within three days of the issuance of an arrest notification, waive trial and pay a scheduled assessment for the violation committed. It is also to expedite court cases and save a violator the time of going to court and spend considerable time waiting for his or her case to be called, where upon payment of cost in the bureau, the case will be attended to without delay.

There are at the present time ninety-five automatic traffic signals installed at various street intersections throughout the city.

THE POLICE TRAINING SCHOOL

The school is located on the second floor of the Police Gymnasium Building, at 223 South Twelfth boulevard.

On March 12, 1928, the Police Training School was reorganized and the method of instruction was changed. The course of training was extended from four to six weeks. Text books were eliminated and instruction by lectures was substituted. A daily schedule of eight hours is still maintained. Competent instructors connected with the Police Department lecture new recruits on the Constitution, Government, criminal law, city ordinances, organization and duties of policemen, city police geography, tours of observation and inspection, etc. Special training in the construction of official reports, State and city traffic laws and first aid instruction is given prominent place in the course. Experts from the Tracing Bureau, Bertillon room and Automobile Bureau explain the respective activities of their divisions. Drill, target practice and instruction in the proper handling of firearms, and physical training receive special attention. An extensive gymnasium course is required of all officers who have joined the department during the last three years.

A total of 100 probationary patrolmen attended the school during the past year, and one was dropped from the rolls.

Four hundred and eighteen applicants for appointment as probationary patrolmen were given a mental and National Intelligence Test examination; 290 of these applicants made a passing grade, and 128 failed.

Office of the Drillmaster

Lieutenant Nick Bosch, Jr., Drillmaster
Henry W. Abeken, Physical Director
Det. Sergeant Nary H. Phillips
Patrolman Luke E. Hastey

The drillmaster has charge of the physical training and drilling of the members of the force in prescribed military tactics and in proper handling of all firearms. It is his special duty to impress upon the members of the force the necessity of maintaining at all times a soldierly bearing, discipline, military neatness and promptness in discharge of their duties. He also has charge of the classes of students of the Police Training School for one hour and fifteen minutes each day during their six weeks training at the school, instructing them in military drills, the art of self-defense, searching of prisoners, the disarming of armed criminals, use of firearms, etc. All students are required to qualify in the department revolver course before leaving the training school.

All districts, including the Traffic Division, are drilled and inspected by platoons once a week, for ten minutes before the regular roll call. The drilling is in charge of the platoon commanders assisted by the sergeants of the platoon. This drill consists of the School of Soldier. Each of these platoons are inspected on an average of once a month by the drillmaster or his assistant.

The drillmaster has charge of all funerals, where members of the department receive military burials. He also supervises and arranges various schedules such as drill and shooting schedules, gymnasium schedules, etc.

All officers of the department, physically able, are required to shoot and qualify in the department revolver course. This practice is held annually during the months of December, January and February. The following is the department revolver qualification course used during the past season's shoot:

Range:

15 yards for slow and timed fire, and

20 yards for rapid fire.

Course:

Two scores of five shots each, slow fire, one minute per shot;

Two scores of five shots each, timed fire, 30 seconds per score, and

Two scores of five shots each, rapid fire, 15 seconds per score.

Targets:

20-yard standard American targets for slow and timed fire, and silhouette man-figure moving targets for rapid fire, counting the kill hits only.

Qualifications:

Scores necessary to acquire this rank

Expert..... 255 (See note)

Sharpshooter..... 240

Marksmen..... 220

First-class..... 180 (Qualified)

All officers are required to shoot the above course through twice, the first time being practice.

Note: All officers qualifying as experts are awarded a gold expert button; as sharpshooters, a gold button stating such rank; as marksmen, a gold button stating such rank, the buttons to be worn on the left lapel of the uniform coat. Experts are also permitted to accumulate four recreation days.

Following are the results of last season's shoot held during the months of December, 1929, and January and February, 1930:

Experts	Sharpshooters	Marksmen	First-Class	Failed	Excused Physically Disabled	Total Shooting
92	101	250	827	418	96	1688

The officers failing to qualify in this course are formed into classes, and required to take a special course in revolver shooting on their own time after the regular target practice season. This they continue until such time as they are able to qualify. The practice for the officers failing to shoot the required score is held immediately following the annual qualification, during the months of March, April and May.

The complete shooting scores and annual shooting ratings of each individual officer of the department are recorded and filed in the private files of the Chief of Police.

Following the annual qualification shoot an individual competitive match is held for officers qualifying as experts. The regular department revolver course mentioned above is used, and the three officers shooting the three highest scores are ranked as the three best revolver shots of the department for that season, and are awarded a gold, silver or bronze Commissioner's medal, according to the order they finish. During last season these honors were held as follows:

Season of 1929 to 1930

Gold medal to Detective Oliver Yanick, Secret Service Division.

Silver medal to Patrolman Thamer Hill, Central District.

Bronze medal to Patrolman James Evans, Eighth District.

During the summer months from June to October, each of the sixteen districts and divisions organize a revolver team of seven men to compete against all other districts according to a set schedule. The results of these inter-district matches and the standing of the teams are published weekly in the Police Journal. At the end of the season the district winning the most matches is awarded a bronze plaque, which is their permanent property, and also a championship banner, which is awarded to the winner from year to year. During the past few years this banner has been held as follows:

Championship banner won by Sixth District in 1926.

Championship banner won by Eighth District in 1927.

Championship banner won by Secret Service Division in 1928.

Championship banner won by Central District in 1929.

On May 10 and 11, 1929, the department revolver team under the direction of the drillmaster was entered in several revolver matches held by the Missouri State Rifle and Pistol Association at Columbia, Missouri. In these matches the department team won four team championship silver loving cups, and also eight medals for individual revolver matches. The team trophies were awarded for winning the following matches:

The Police Team Championship Match.

The Heavy Caliber Team Championship Match.

The Open Team Championship Match.

The Free Pistol Team Championship Match.

The drillmaster also entered a department revolver team in the National matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, which are held each year from August 25 to September 15, under the auspices of the National Rifle Association and the United States Government. While attending these matches the team entered the Small Arms Firing School, conducted by the Government, receiving certificates of proficiency in the handling of small arms, pistol marksmanship, use of gas, sub-machine gun and disarming methods. In the revolver matches entered the department team placed fifth in the police pistol team match, being seven points behind the winner. The team placed second in the Sobel trophy team match, being two points behind the winner, and placed first in the National Rifle Association pistol team match, making a world's record score for this match and winning same by forty points lead. A member of this team shooting this same match as an individual also broke a world's record, for which he was awarded a bronze statue, known as the Col. Gillard Clarke trophy. For winning the above N. R. A. team match, the team was awarded a silver wreath enclosing a target, known as the N. R. A. Revolver Team Trophy. A total of twenty-eight medals were won by the members of the team while attending these National shooting matches.

The Police Officers' Revolver Club, which is sponsored by the drillmaster's office and is open to all members of the department, causes quite an improvement in the shooting of members of the department. This club meets regularly each week at the Headquarters target range, or at the outdoor department target range, shooting the regular department course mentioned above. The results of these shoots are published weekly in the Police Journal.

Under the activities of the drillmaster the system of giving a gold sharpshooters and marksman button was inaugurated, as was the system of training officers of the department in the use of tear gas and sub-machine guns. In the past year it was found necessary to purchase 17 additional sub-machine guns, making a total of 27 Thompson sub-machine guns now in use by the department. During this time the department was also equipped with the following gas equipment:—Five long range gas riot guns, 90 defensive and offensive shells for same, 12 smoke hand grenades and 120 tear gas hand grenades.

The department gymnasium course, which is conducted by the physical director, Prof. Henry W. Abeken, is held during the fall and winter months, and is compulsory for all officers of the department who have been appointed since March 21, 1925. These officers take exercises while on the first and second platoon and are excused while on the night watch. The attendance at these classes amounts to about 500 officers per week. All officers taking this course receive instruction in the following subjects: Calisthenics, jiu jitsu, club fencing, running, vaulting, boxing and wrestling, scaling, run and drop shooting and swimming. The department gymnasium is equipped with modern apparatus of every description, and gives the officers the convenience of a thorough and practical athletic training. Probationary patrolmen while attending the Police Training School are also given a thorough course in physical training, each day during their six weeks term.

During the summer months of July and August the above officers are given a course in swimming at the Battery "A" pool, which includes practice in life-saving and resuscitation. This two month period, while encouraged to keep the men in condition, is a means of recreation also.

During the summer of 1929 a mammoth Water Carnival was sponsored by this department at the New Coliseum for the benefit of the Police Relief Association. One hundred and fifty members of the department participated in this performance, which was attended by an enthusiastic audience.

First Aid Lectures

One thousand eight hundred and fifty Red Cross certificates were awarded during the year following courses of fifteen lectures, each consisting of actual demonstrations in applying first aid to the injured as well as instructions.

Approximately 365 cases, where artificial respiration was given, were reported for the past year. On many occasions inhalators, with which districts are equipped, were brought into use. Often nightsticks were used by officers as splints for broken limbs.

All probationaries attending the Police Training School are required to pass a test on their proficiency in rendering first aid to the injured.

Total number of modus operandi photographs on file in the Bureau..... 8,152

In addition to the above work performed, the members of the Bureau also rendered much assistance to local and out-of-town officers in exhibiting photographs of criminals to victims of robberies, confidence games, pickpockets, thefts of automobiles, bank and other robberies, for the purpose of identification.

Copies of photographs were made of persons wanted who were not previously handled by the Bureau of Identification; new photographs were also taken of criminals previously on file but who had not been arrested for a number of years.

All holdup men and women, burglars, forgers, pickpockets, shoplifters, confidence men, etc., are listed in the modus operandi filing system according to the crime and description of the individual.

Members of this Bureau visited the scenes of homicides, robberies, burglaries and other crimes, as well as fires, for the purpose of taking photographs of the scenes and obtaining finger prints and such other data as could be used as competent evidence before the Coroner and the Courts.

The Bureau also assisted in every possible way the Post Office Department, Treasury Department, Secret Service Division, Internal Revenue Division, Department of Justice, Immigration Department and the Prohibition Division.

The Bureau of Identification has also been at the disposal of the American Railway Express Company and all railroads insofar as is consistent with their activities against criminals encountered by them.

Research Bureau

This Bureau was created in 1928. In exercising one of its functions it employs the system of Forensic Ballistics, which is sometimes referred to as bullet finger-printing. Briefly, it is the scientific investigation and identification of bullets, shells and firearms, based solely on facts determined with mechanical accuracy, and in which human opinions have no part or place. These investigations are carried on with a specially designed and highly perfected type of comparison microscope, the particular function of which is to fuse into a single one, the image of two bullets or shells, so that in case the markings on each are identical, the composite picture produced will reveal, after the identical markings or grooves have been located and brought into approximation, what appears to be a single bullet or shell rather than the fusion of two. Unless two bullets have been discharged through the same barrel of a firearm they cannot be so fused that they will present the appearance of a single bullet, the picture always evidencing marked differences in its two halves. This same result will be obtained in the case of shells which have, or have not, been discharged from the same arm, those having been fired from the same arm being easily matched and others cannot be matched. Forensic Ballistic evidence was successfully used by the department in several cases recently. This Bureau also makes all photographs and plans of scenes of homicides, auto accidents, arsons and affrays.

POLICEWOMEN'S DIVISION

The policewomen do preventive and protective work, in addition to handling all cases brought to their attention in the same manner as our police officers. A very important part of their work is directed towards juvenile delinquency, these cases being brought to their attention by investigation of reports of missing persons and other complaints to the department.

All wife and child abandonment cases are handled by the policewomen, arrests being made at the request of the Prosecuting Attorney, to whom the case has previously been presented. During the summer months policewomen together with detectives patrol the parks and other places of amusement frequented by the younger set in an effort to prevent delinquency, and also patrol the Citizens' Military Training Camp at Jefferson Barracks, where they do preventive and protective work among the students. Policewomen are also assigned to patrol Union Station, bus stations, department stores and picture shows. Two policewomen work in connection with the venereal clinic. Letters of inquiry from various parts of the world are also investigated by this Division and reports made thereon. Policewomen assist police officers in securing evidence regarding the movements of criminals and suspected persons, and in interviewing girls and women witnesses in cases in which intimate sex relations are involved. They assist the Morality, Gambling and Liquor Squads, and investigate suspicious ads. for employment appearing in the daily papers. They are often called upon by the Government officials to secure evidence in Mann Act, narcotic and other Government offenses. Cases of unidentified persons held at hospitals and city morgue are also handled by them. Cases of stranded persons are investigated and referred to the proper social agency. Protective work is also done among girls and women who have been overcharged or employment misrepresented to them by employment agencies. They also handle cases of juveniles who escape from training and industrial schools, as well as violators of paroles, and other children who are wanted by the Juvenile Court. They also handle all cases of fortune tellers, fake doctors, midwives and spiritualists not members of the National Organization of Spiritualists. The daily broadcasting program of missing persons is compiled by the Policewomen's Division. Cases of obscene literature and pictures are also part of their work. They are also called upon to patrol office buildings on the lookout for men who indecently expose themselves to girls and women employed in these buildings. All requests made by local residents for the location of relatives out-of-town which, through necessity, must come from the Chief of Police, are handled by policewomen.

During the current year 591 warrants were issued at the behest of policewomen for offenders charged with various offenses.

The Policewomen's Division was created by the Board of Police Commissioners in May, 1916, four women constituting the first Division.

The Division now consists of 18 policewomen, who are under the jurisdiction of the Chief of Detectives. Detective Sergeant Barney F. Verheyen is in charge of the Division, which is located at Police Headquarters. The Division is an auxiliary to our police force, and their work is strictly confined to police duties, leaving constructive work to the many highly organized social agencies.

POLICE BAND

The St. Louis Metropolitan Police Band was organized in September, 1921, with seventeen members, and has since grown to an organization of thirty-nine members. It has developed into a musical organization second to none in the city. The uniforms and instruments are furnished by the Board of Police Commissioners, each member being responsible for his uniform and the instrument that he plays.

The officers of the band are as follows:

Lieutenant William L. Henry, Eighth District, president and vice-president.

Patrolman Fred H. Windmoeller, Fifth District, assistant conductor.

Lieutenant James J. Moran, Eighth District, drum major.

Patrolman Harry J. Ziegler, Seventh District, secretary and librarian.

Patrolman Edward Schlewing, Traffic Division, color bearer.

Patrolman Henry Bruns, Traffic Division, banner bearer.

Professor Henry J. Falkenhainer, one of the most capable musical directors in the city, a member of the Municipal Theatre Orchestra, and one of the leading artists of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, is conductor and instructor, and, through his untiring efforts, the Police Band has developed into one of the best musical organizations of its kind in the country.

Rehearsals are held each Tuesday from 2 to 5 p. m. at the Eleventh District Station. The band attends all funerals of deceased officers, excepting in a few instances where the family of the deceased officers do not desire the services of the band, which has only been on one or two occasions.

The band also has given concerts at the City Infirmary, Isolation Hospital, City Sanitarium, and during the opening ceremony of the new Police Headquarters Building entertained the visitors with a concert in the Gymnasium Building.

SYSTEM OF COMMUNICATION

Every 24 hours approximately 3,450 calls are dialed over the 88 stations of the private automatic exchange connecting at Headquarters and throughout the various districts. An average of 1800 calls daily is handled through the two-position main switchboard, and about 765 calls daily through a one-position switchboard in the Detective Division.

Six hundred and thirty-one patrol boxes with automatic red signal flashing light devices attached, located throughout the city, connect through the 14 district switchboards, and from one district to another, with the municipal switchboard at Headquarters. There are 742 telephones, including patrol boxes, connected with the municipal switchboard of the department; it has 103 stations, and approximately 2,150 calls are handled at this board every 24 hours. Two patrol boxes have been added during the year.

Twenty-four dictographs, located in various offices throughout Headquarters building on direct lines with the offices of the Secretary of the Board, Chief of Police, and Chief of Detectives, keep these officials in direct contact with the various offices throughout the building.

The dispatcher operates a signal call system with bells, which sound throughout the Headquarters building, a different number of bells for each person wanted.

An electric signal map of the city, operated in the switchboard room, shows the moves of auto patrols and reserve cars in the districts, red light signals designating auto patrols and green light signals, reserve cars. With this information at a glance there is little delay in furnishing a district in need of an auto patrol or reserve crew with the nearest available car. Four white light signals indicate the moves of department flyers. On an average 250 moves are registered on this map daily.

Eleven riot call alarms from different places, such as the City Jail, Federal Reserve Bank, City Treasury, Post Office, cell rooms at Headquarters, and burglar alarm systems, sound into the switchboard room.

Over teletype machines in the Chief's office are transmitted approximately 130 messages daily to the 16 receiving machines in the various districts and Secret Service Division, also to six St. Louis county police offices. The county service is two-way, i. e., messages are received from them on an extra machine at Headquarters, as well as sent to them, either in one operation, while sending to the St. Louis Department stations, or separately.

A monitor signal switchboard installed at Headquarters recently, operated in conjunction with the teletype machines, enables the operator to send to districts separately or in groups, or, with the operation of one key, to all the various districts at one time; also to keep a check on the various districts, where receiving-only machines are installed, by requesting a light signal, in response to the bell signal rung by the operator at Headquarters, when a message has been completed.

Arrangements have been made to install a 500-watt broadcasting station in the Police Headquarters building, which will be known as station KGPC. Two 100-foot masts will be constructed on the roof of the building, and transmission will be done on a frequency of 1712 kilocycles. Eighty receiving sets will be installed in department cars and in the various district stations.

THE POLICE JOURNAL

The Police Journal is the official organ of the Board of Police Commissioners and of the Police Department. It began the nineteenth year of its existence on April 5, 1930. It is a weekly newspaper, seven by ten inches, averaging twelve pages. The object of printing a paper of this kind is to keep the officers and employes in close touch with everything that is transpiring in the department and elsewhere, which it is to their interest to know, and to assist in welding the department into a harmonious and more effective unit for the prevention and eradication of crime in this community. All new ordinances affecting the department are published in the Journal, as are the proceedings of the regular weekly meetings of the Board of Police Commissioners. Whenever an exceptionally good arrest is made—police duty that stands out above the ordinary, everyday routine cases made by members of the force—the Journal prints the particulars of the case, giving the officers concerned full credit for their good work, thus encouraging other officers to be on their “toes” and do all in their power to perform similar service. The Journal also publishes many letters of commendation from citizens and visitors who are appreciative of the good work of the department.

“Efficient Police Make a City of Peace,” is the slogan of the department. It was donated by Mr. G. H. Palin, of New York City, in 1924, for exclusive use of the Police Journal. It is being lived up to in a manner that is most convincing to those who are aware of the great handicaps under which a police department functions, not to mention the great hazards taken by officers daily in protecting the citizenship of any community against bandits. Officers of the department are not forgetting this apt slogan. Their splendid work in preventing crimes and in arresting violators after offenses against the law have been committed amply verifies this. The work of the officers of the department in stamping out crime in this community has improved yearly, and the publicity given good arrests in the department's paper has spurred the men on in their never-ending war against crime and criminals.

The Journal prints 3,800 copies a week. It has a mailing list which includes police departments of other cities, public libraries, sociological organizations and reputable citizens who are intensely interested in police work. So far as known it is the only weekly newspaper of its kind in the world. It is issued gratis to members of the department and others who have need for a publication of this character.

ST. LOUIS POLICE RETIREMENT SYSTEM

A bill was passed May 23, 1929, by the Missouri Legislature authorizing the creation, maintenance and administration of a police retirement or pension system. The bill was signed by Governor Henry S. Caulfield on June 11, 1929, and became a law October 1, 1929. This marks the successful termination of a campaign for police pensions in St. Louis which extends back about 40 years. The bill was prepared with the assistance of George B. Buck, a New York actuary and an outstanding expert on police pensions. It was passed without any amendment whatsoever.

All members of the former St. Louis Police Pension Fund Association were taken over by the new organization after they had voted to dissolve, and all pensions paid by the former organization were assumed by the retirement system. The Pension Fund Association came into existence in September, 1925, the members paying five per cent of their salaries. The first member was pensioned on October 31, 1925. When taken over by the new organization there were 180 members or their dependents drawing pensions.

Under the new plan the City of St. Louis will contribute approximately $415,000 a year for about 30 years, and the contributions of members will average about 5.31 per cent of the payroll, or approximately $215,000 a year. The city's contribution will be on the same basis as the members after a period of 30 years, as estimated by the actuary.

All officers and employes of the Police Department employed by the Board of Police Commissioners for police duty are eligible for membership. All such officers and employes in service October 1, 1929, are included in the membership except those who prior to that date filed notices that they did not wish to become members. All officers and employes entering the police service after that date automatically become members of the retirement system as a condition of their employment.

Any member, regardless of his years of service, who attains the age 60 in service, may retire at any time thereafter at his own request. When a member reaches the age of 70 he must retire unless, at the request of the Board of Police Commissioners, the Board of Trustees grants him an extension for one year, which can be further extended in one year periods, only at the request of the Board of Police Commissioners.

The retirement system has been designed to provide an annual retirement allowance of half salary to a member retiring at 60 with 35 years of service. Members with less years of service at age 60 will receive proportionately smaller annual retirement allowances, and those with more service at age 60 will receive proportionately greater retirement allowances.

Ordinary Disability Benefit—Any member who has credit for 10 or more years of service, and who becomes permanently and totally incapacitated for performing his duty as a member of the Police Department, from any cause, may claim an ordinary disability benefit ranging from 25 to 45 per cent of his average annual compensation, the amount of such allowance depending on his length of service.

Accidental Disability Benefit—If a member is disabled as a result of an accident in the actual performance of duty, before becoming eligible for a service retiring benefit, he may claim an accidental disability retirement benefit regardless of his age or length of service. The accidental disability benefit consists of a pension of two-thirds of his average annual compensation for the previous 10 years, payable from the city's contributions plus an annuity, the amount of which is determined by the amount of the member's own contribution with accumulated interest at retirement.

Ordinary Death Benefit—If a member dies in service through causes not due to accident, in the actual performance of duty, all his deposits with interest are paid to his beneficiary, and in addition an amount equal to 50 per cent of one year's salary is paid to his beneficiary.

Accidental Death Benefit—If the member dies as a result of an accident in the actual performance of duty, there is paid, instead of the ordinary death benefit, an accidental death benefit under which his widow receives a pension for life of one-half of the average final compensation of the member. If there is no widow, or if the widow dies, or remarries, before any child of the deceased attains the age of 16 years, the same pension is paid to the child or children until the youngest one reaches the age 16. If there is no widow nor child, then the pension may be paid to the deceased member's dependent father or dependent mother, in addition the amount deposited by the deceased member with interest to the date of death are paid to his beneficiary.

Benefit on Withdrawal—If a member leaves the service of the department for any cause without receiving a benefit he may withdraw all his deposits with four per cent interest, compounded annually.

Contributions—Every member of the retirement system under age 60 is required to contribute to the retirement system a percentage of his salary depending upon his age at the time of entering the retirement system. His contributions will be deducted from his salary. The percentage rates of deductions are from 3.60 to 6.08 determined by the age of the member when joining the retirement system.

Administration—The administration of the retirement system is in the hands of a Board of Trustees representing the interests of the members of the Police Department and of the city. The Board consists of the president of the Board of Police Commissioners, the Comptroller of the City of St. Louis, two persons appointed by the Mayor and three members elected by the members of the retirement system. The funds of the system are kept entirely distinct from the funds of the city, and are used exclusively for the payments provided by the retirement law. The expenses of operation are taken care of by a special contribution made by the city. The financial basis of the system follows that of a number of the recently established soundly financed state and city retirement systems, and members may have entire confidence in its financial stability.

The retirement system is governed by a Board of Trustees, composed of Hon. Lon O. Hocker, president, Board of Police Commissioners, and Hon. Louis Nolte, Comptroller of the City of St. Louis, ex-officio members; Hon. John B. Edwards; Col. Joseph A. Gerk, Chief of Police; E. H. Bartelsmeyer; Detective Sergeant Charles O. Gerlach and Patrolman Frank J. Steffen. Col. Gerk is chairman of the Board, and Mr. Bartelsmeyer is secretary. The treasurer of the system is Hon. William G. Buechner, City Treasurer.
